WINS FIRST HOME GAME.

Middlebury Out-classes St. Lawrence Team.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME ON NEW FIELD COMES TO HOME TEAM.

Saturday, October 24, in the first home game of the season, Middlebury completely outclassed St. Lawrence and won a decisive victory by the score of 31 to 7. The game marked the turning point in the spoils of the football war, and from now on the team should give a good account of itself. Under the combined efforts of Coaches Francis and Fisher, the latter having built up a strong second team, the varsity has shown marked development during the past week. However, there is need of more improvement in several departments of the game. There was too much seemingly unnecessary fumbling, which would be taken advantage of by a better opponent. The backs were slow in picking holes through the line, while on end runs the interference oftentimes failed to put the opposing end out of the play. There was also too much tendency on the part of the backs to run back on their end runs, which often resulted in big losses.

COACH FRANCIS

A number of good gains were made by use of the forward pass, although there seems to be too great a tendency on the part of those eligible to receive it to bunch together, thus making it possible for one of the opposing team to cover more men than ordinarily the case.

From the results shown in Saturday's games when a number of the smaller colleges completely outplayed their more renowned opponents by means of forward passes and radical open play, it would seem that Middlebury ought to develop this style of game to the fullest extent.

The features of the game from a Middlebury standpoint were the sensational broken field work of Bresnahan, the usual stellar performance of Captain Jones in guarding his wing position and the all around work of Fish and Keefe. The game opened when Condit kicked the ball to Church on the St. Lawrence 25-yard line. The visitors tried the old-fashioned rushing game and after two unsuccessful line plunges and an end run, which resulted in a ten-yard loss, Griswold punted to Kron,

THE 114th CHARTER DAY.

Announcement Made of Gift of New Grandstand to Be Erected on Porter Athletic Field.

Unknown Benefactor Plans for Modern Structure of Cement with Shower Baths and Dressing Rooms.

The 114th anniversary of the granting of the charter to Middlebury college was observed on Saturday, October 31st, owing to the date falling this year on Sunday.

At the chapel exercises in the morning Dean Wright spoke in regard to the nature of Charter Day and asked all to participate in the exercises. In the afternoon the student body, faculty, and friends witnessed the foot ball game played on the Porter Athletic field between the Springfield Y. M. C. A. and Middlebury team.

In the evening the exercises were held in McCullough gymnasium, President Thomas presiding. A large gathering including the faculty, students and many guests were in attendance. A light supper was served, at which the Rev. John Chapman, of the class of '79 asked the blessing. Mr. Chapman has but recently returned from Alaska where he has been engaged in the Episcopal missionary service.

Dean Wright was the first speaker. His theme was: "If you want a thing done well, let some one else do it," and following this attitude he introduced some of his English class who sang the round "Sumer is icumen in," which was immensely enjoyed by all. Professor Bryant gave an interesting talk on his experiences abroad during the past year and ex-Governor Stuart spoke of Remininces of his early life.

H. J. Vail '14 gave an interesting talk on "Athletics, Rushing Rules and the College Union."

One of the most interesting speeches of the evening was that of Dr. MacCurdy, head coach at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college, Dr. MacCurdy spoke on the growth and the possibilities of Middlebury and in his speech remarked that "more than any other college which he had visited did Middlebury offer opportunity for the development of good and useful men and citizens."

During the course of the evening Dr. Thomas caused a sensation, among the undergraduates particularly, when he announced the gift of a new grandstand to be erected on Porter Athletic Field. The grandstand is to have a floor of concrete and will be fitted with shower baths, dressing rooms and other athletic equipment for the accommodation of the visiting and home teams. It is to have a seating capacity of several hundred. The name of the donor was not announced, by request, but the student body is none the less grateful although somewhat handicapped in giving expression of their gratitude. When the announcement was made cheer after cheer were given for the donor, for Dr. Thomas and for "Midd," for probably no gift could be more acceptable to the student body than a modern equipped grandstand, the dream of every athletic student.

Union.

A smoker for the St. Lawrence game was held on the evening of October 23 in the Gymnasium, with practically all of the men in college in attendance. The speakers for the occasion were Dr. Thomas. "Pick" Fisher and Professor Bryant, the latter giving a most interesting talk on "Origin of Football." The meeting ended with the usual snake dance, cheers and songs.

On October 29 a smoker was held in anticipation of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. game. Speakers for the occasion were Professors Sanford, Voter and McGilton, all of whom were well received. Songs, cheers and a snake dance, led by Sistaire, 'I5, followed.

Owing to the fact that Rogers, '15, will not return to college this year, a meeting of the Union was recently held to select a vice-president to fill the vacancy occasioned by Roger's absence. Loder, '15, was elected to fill the position.

The junior class held a meeting October 22 at which the following officers were elected: President, Joel Lamere, of Ludlow; vice-president, Miss Helen Kenrick, Walpole. N. H.; treasurer, Carley Paulsen, New York; secretary, Miss Lucia Besiegel, Dalton, Mass.

MIDD. MEETS DEFEAT.

Springfield Y. M. C. A. Team Score 27 Points to Middlebury 7.

MIDDLEBURY TEAM PUTS UP HARDEST FIGHT OF THE SEASON.

The fast Springfield Y. M. C. A. college met and defeated Middlebury last Saturday by a score of 27 to 7. It was without doubt the hardest fought and cleanest contest seen in Middlebury for a number of years and surely no one can begrudge the visitors their victory. Only praise can be given the whole Midd. team for the game they played. It will be recalled that this Springfield team, earlier in the season, gained over 175 yards on eleven forward passes against Harvard, who, in Brickley, Mahan, Bradlee and Logan, had probably the best backfield in the country, noted for its wonderful defensive ability. Suffice it to say that they only made three successful passes against Middlebury. In the matter of holding, the Midd. line presented a veritable stonewall for the visitors to buck, especially when they advanced the ball within the shadow of our goalposts. Within the first five minutes of play they had the ball within our five-yard line three times and were unable to put it over for the score.

The visitors outclassed Midd. in providing interference for their backs, in tackling, and in bowling over men in the open. The spectacular feature was made by Fountain when he caught a short pass from Bell on a Midd. kick and went through a broken field for 65 yards and a touchdown.

Myers and Holmes also played well for Springfield. In the Midd. line Horsford and Parker stood out conspicuously, while Keefe was especially effective in the backfield. The visitors took the offense directly after play started, when Stevens recovered a fumble by Reynolds on the kick-off. The ball was quickly rushed to the five-yard line where Midd. held for downs and directly punted out of danger. The advance was duplicated twice, but the fourth time Miller succeeded in planting the ball behind the goal posts for the first score. He also kicked an easy goal.

Midd again received the kickoff but could not gain against the heavy Springfield line, and the visitors finally got possession of the ball on our 30 yard line. From here a forward pass netted 20 yards and by line smashing the ball was pushed across for the final score of the first half.

At the start of the second half Kron replaced Hubbard at quarter and Keefe went in for Lynch. Horsford nailed Friedland on the kickoff on Springfields 40 yard line, from which point the visitors were not halted in their march down the field for their third touchdown.

Springfield's final score was made by means of a short pass from Bell to Fountain, who carried the ball through a broken field for 65 yards, The Midd team was taken off guard by this play

EDITORIAL.

The following statement by E. H. Parkinson, D. D., of Chicago, one of America's leaders in the Prohibition movement, ought to prove of interest to Middlebury prohibition workers. In regard to united action on the part of temperance workers, Dr. Parkinson says in part: "If the present status of the great prohibition reform suggests anything it is the pressing need of concentration upon the part of various organizations in the nation-wide movement. The other and many lines of temperance and prohibition effort have certainly led up to this very important one. And now to cling tenaciously to old theories and forms will only occasion delay when great and rapid strides are demanded. The Prohibition party, the Anti-Saloon league, the W. C. T. U. and the numerous social and church temperance societies can well take fresh courage in seeing the culmination of long continued plan and effort in the nation-wide agitation for prohibition. To be sure some of the workers have had this movement always in mind—they have not swerved from it, but there has not been a day when there was such an impetus toward a united concentration as there is just now. And we believe this phase of the subject marks the beginning of the end to the greatest reform of the century. The conviction obtains that there have been theorizing and organizing long enough. Let outright and downright work now be in evidence. The end to be accomplisbed is of vastly greater moment than the prolongation of the life of any particular organization. Let societies and organizations perish, but let the end toward which they have contributed be their enduring monument. If need be they can well lose their identity in the unity and concentration now becoming universally apparent."

Secretary Bryan is really accomplishing a wonderful work in the line of peace treaties, and is entitled to full credit for it.

His latest achievement is to add Russia to a long list of countries covered by his "wait-a-year" agreements. The treaty with the Czar's government has been signed.

This is the twenty-seventh of these treaties, which now pledges four-fifths of the human race to keep peace with the United States.

They pledge the nations to wait at least one year before making war, should diplomacy and arbritration and a report by impartial investigators all fail. In that year it is believed that some way would surely be found to reconcile any differences that might arise.

Greece also has signified its willingness to sign one of the Bryan treaties,

Because some banks were piling up cash in their vaults and refusing to lend it at reasonable rates of interest, the Secretary of the Treasury has drawn out $3,000,000 of Government money which was on deposit in those banks. Thus the banks have lost more than they could ever hope to gain by their hoarding policy.

Automobilitis.

In the touring car I sit, thinking, mother dear, of you
And our cosy little home so far away.
We are standing in the road with a tire that's gone and "blowed,"
And the engine's acting in a funny way.

Crank, crank, crank,
Our back is breaking,
Cheer up comrades, if you can,
While the batteries are gone,
We will crank away till dawn,
'Tis the fate of almost every auto fan.

Though we yank upon the crank, there is no gas in the tank
And the carburetor quit, long, long ago,
So we cannot get up steam and we cannot hire a team,
And its almost time to see the morning's glow.

Crank, crank, crank,
Our knees are shaking,
Cheer up, comrades, just the same.
Though the benzine buggies balk,
We can all get out and walk
Back to town nine miles, for that's all in the game.

Song of the (Red Cross) Shirt.

With fingers skillful? and pricked
(My thimble? It seems to have fled)
We sit around in the social hall,
Plying our needle and thread,
Stitch! Stitch! Stitch!
Ah me! I much rather flirt,
But instead, I sing in a dolerous pitch
The song of the shirt, shirt, shirt.

War! War! War!
Poor soldiers! It's bad to get hurt,
But surely the very last straw
Will be—to wear this here shirt.
I've put in the sleeves all wrong—
One of them looks like a wing?
Well perhaps—but I'm falling asleep,
Say, did the telephone ring?

No, it's only a man—
But can't he the good cause join?
Here's the collection box—
Nab him, and get the coin!
He dropped a whole quarter in!
Without even batting an eye—
The stuff of the hero's in him—
I'm off for the movies—good bye!

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

Bible study classes will begin this week and will continue through the semester. Marjorie Wright is to conduct a class studying "Discipleship," and Pauline Helms will give a series of ten studies from the Psalms. Last, but by no means least, Prof. Wright will lead a Bible study class on Sunday morning at Pearsons Hall. The courses are very attractive and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance at these classes.

On November third and fourth Miss Flenniken, student secretary of the Northeastern Field committee, visited the Middlebury association. On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock Miss Flenniken spoke to the young women of the college.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings the young ladies of the college, kindly assisted by Mrs. Mllls who loaned her machine for the purpose, met in the social hall and sewed for the benefit of the European Red Cross. Readings were given by several of the young ladies and selections rendered on the new victrola, both of which made the evenings very enjoyablə.

Honors for "Zeb" Aylward.

A representative of the American Review of Physical Education, who was recently in Middlebury, interviewed "Zeb" Alyward, the Middlebury ambidextorous pitcher, concerning the development of the latter's ability to pitch with either hand. The representative remarked that whereas he had seen men capable of using both hands in pitching it was always the result of training and never before had he seen anyone who came naturally by this strange ability. After taking notes and pictures the writer left with a promise to send copies of the magazine in which the article will be published.

Delta Upsilon Outing.

The Delta Upsilon fraternity, among whom was R. W. Hedges, '12, took a tramp to Beldens Sunday afternoon. supper was served around a large bonfire after which they sang songs and gave college yells. The party returned home early in the evening.

who fumbled, thus giving Hayden a chance to recover the ball on Middlebury's 20-yard line. On a double pass the ball was advanced to within a yard of the last chalk line and Ford easily plunged through center for the remaining distance. Griswold kicked the goal, thus giving the visitors a seven-point lead. Lynch received the St. Lawrence kickoff and carried the ball back to the 40-yard line. On an exchange of kicks Midd. gained possession of the ball in the middle of the field and started an uninterrupted march to the goal. To check the assault Earle went in for Morgan, while Hubbard replaced Kron for Midd. Keefe, Lynch and (Bresnahan) alternated in taking the ball down the field until the three-yard line was reached, when Hubbard scored. Jones kicked the goal, tying the score. On the next kickoff Cowles made an excellent tackle after being apparently put out of the play by one of the St. Lawrence men. St. Lawrence was taking no chances and immediately punted to Hubbard in the center of the field. Bresnahan and Hubbard made first down and on a fake run Jones threw a forward pass to Condit which netted fifteen yards. The St. Lawrence line stiffened and Captain Jones showed his versatility by dropping back to his 30-yard line and putting the ball neatly between the uprights, bringing Midd's. score up to 10. Instead of receiving the next kickoff St. Lawrence elected to put the ball in scrimmage on the 20-yard line. Griswold punted on the first down to the middle of the field, Hubbard returning the ball to the 40-yard line. Lynch failed to gain through tackle, but Bresnahan made ten-yard around end and Hubbard added seven more. Lamere, who had taken Keefe's place, made two yards, then gained and Bresnahan made a first down on the ten-yard line. Midd. was then penalized five yards for holding, but Cowles was brought behind the line and circled end for the score. Jones again kicked the goal, making the score for the first half, Middlebury 17, St. Lawrence 7,

At the opening of the second half Bresnahan received the kickoff on the fifteen-yard line and by wonderful dodging and fast sprinting eluded the whole St. Lawrence team and carried the ball to within a yard of the line before he was tackled from behind. It was the most spectacular play of the day and completely took all hope of victory from the visitors.

On the first down Hubbard carried the ball over and Jones again kicked the goal. Midd's. final touchdown was made after a great deal of fumbling and loose playing by both sides. The visitors bucked the line for big gains and managed to plant the ball on the 10-yard line, where Midd. held and Chilton failed in an attempt at a drop kick. The ball was put in play at the 20-yard line, and after being penalized 15 yards for holding, Condit got off a beautiful spiral to St. Lawrence's 40-yard line. Jones then blocked Chilton's punt, but a St. Lawrence player recovered the ball in the middle of the field. Chilton finally got off a punt to Lamere on the 10-yard line. From this point, by means of line bucks and two end runs from a fake kick formation, which netted 35 yards, the ball was carried to the 30-yard line. Hubbard then threw a forward pass to Cowles, who carried the ball across the line for the final score of the game. The summary:

as Bell caught a punt and started around one end of the field, thus leading the Midd players to that side of the field, when all was ready the ball was passed to Fountain who completed the trick.

It was now Midd's turn to do something and after getting possession of the ball on her own 20 yard line, it was advanced 20 yards by line plunges when Kron threw a beautiful pass to Jones, who ran the remaining distance and ended the scoring, although Midd threatened to score again just before the final whistle,

On the whole the team played by far the best football it has shown this year and the whole team and coaches should be congratulated on the outcome.

ALUMNI NOTES.

The following letter from an alumna who witnessed the total eclipse of the sun from Turkey recently may prove of interest to CAMPUS readers. The letter is from Miss Isabella Darrow, '11, who has been engaged in missionary work in Turkey since her graduation. The letter reads in part: –

I wonder if the CAMPUS readers would be interested to know that Old Midd was represented at the observations of the total eclipse of the sun on August 21, 1914 in Trebizond.

In Trezibond, on the southern shore of the Black sea, a party of scientifically interested people from North America, Europe and Asia gathered to see the total eclipse of the sun August 21. Among the number present were Dr. and Mrs. Crawford of Trebizond, Consul Northrup, Vice Consul Montesanto and Prof. Dawkins, Director of the British School of Archaeology at Athens.

We spent several days before the event preparing glasses, cameras and cards for sketching the coronas. The Trebizond is noted for its cloudy weather, it had been clear for a week before the exentful day but on the morning of the twenty-first clouds covered the whole sky. About noon it began to look hopeful and at 2:32 a break in the clouds showed us a slight depression on the edge of sun. We watched this for two minutes and then clouds drifted across and we could only wait and hope. At 2:47 the sun again appeared and showed the depression for thirteen minutes growing larger. At 3:15 for five minutes we saw the sun's face about half covered. At 3:40 it was so dark we were obliged to have a light, the birds went to roost and the stars came out. Finally at 3:47 the clouds rolled away leaving His Majesty entirely eclipsed by the moon.

Oh the weird cry that went up from the whole city! Birds, animals and people joined in giving expression to their astonishment and terror and well they might, for the sight of that immense black ball with its halo of light was enough so strike terror to the bravest heart.

Everyone of our party bent to his special task either taking photographs or getting the spectrum or sketching the coronas and we worked fast for about a minute when a light appeared on the edge of the moon, telling us that totalily had passed and that the sun was appearing again.

When details were finished, before separating, we gathered round the samovar and sang the old, old, hymn,

"Sun of my soul, thou Saviour dear,
It is not night if Thou be near;
Oh, may no earth-born cloud arise
To hide Thee from Thy servant's eyes!

ISABELLE DARROW, Midd. '11.

Sophomores Win Meet.

In a track meet between the sophomore and freshman classes held on Porter Field the afternoon of October 23, the former team were victors by a score of 65 1-2 to 42 1-2 points.

The purpose of the meet was to ascertain what material was to be had in the new class and it would seem that although the work of the freshmen at this time was a little ragged, that some very good material may be developed from this class.

As the men had done practically no training, the time for the races was slow:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Besnahan; Hutchinson, second; Christian, third. Time, 11 2-5s.

440-Yard Run—Won by Hollister: Drew, second, Hall, third. Time, 58 1-5s.

ALBANY LAW SCHOOL

The course of study leading to the degree of L. L. B. extends over a period of three years. Students who have pursued one or two years in a law office may enter the second year class as a candidate for a diploma but not a degree.

The high standard of the school and the facilities which the city affords with its legislature, libraries and courts, offer unequalled opportunity for a thorough and practical training.
